Assignment #4 (Due April 21, 2003 at the beginning of class)

Create a Flash Introduction to your personal portfolio web site.

This project is a combination of the original project 4, project 5 and the final. In this assignment we will start working with Flash and creating "movies."

Using Different techniques we will be creating an animation that will preload our web sites. This introduction will have content that is important about the site as well as a skip button for those that do not want to view our creation.

Our web site that we are going to be creating is an online portfolio that you all will be able to host and maintain throughout your college and perhaps your professional careers.

For your FINAL Project you will have a working web site that is hosted on a server of your choice with links going to your work, resume, accomplishments, awards, contact information, a home page and I Flash Animation.
